- a new or amended Abstract of the Disclosure

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A vertebral anchoring device includes a connector (2), a connecting rod (10) and a polyaxial anchoring screw (3) with a spherical head (15) and a screw-threaded body (16) whose external diameter d at a summit of the screw threads (17) is greater than the external diameter a of the spherical head (15). Each connector (2) has a connecting element (4) with vertical branches (5, 6) delimiting an opening (7) of U shape, and a locking clip (8) with a pressure screw (9) for blocking in the bottom of the U the connecting rod (10). The connecting element (4) is pierced at its middle with a vertical bore (11) permitting receiving opposite the opening (7) a blocking device (19) formed by a ring (20) and a screw-threaded socket (21) for the emplacement and positioning of the connector (2) on the spherical head (15) of the anchoring screw (3).
